NAZI TROOPS FROM RUSSIA TO ROMMEL'S RESCUE

Triumphal March Of Eighth Army Tells

MONTGOMERY OUT TO BAG WHOLE OF PANZER ARMY

LONDON, November 5.

Reports from Greece state that the Germans are rushing four divisions of troops from the Russian front to aid Rommel. Four trainloads passed through Athens on Monday.

The Eighth Army's advance is being closely followed in Moscow, where observers recall Mr. Wendell Willkie's recent statement that the Allied objective was to free the North Coast of Africa from the grip of the Axis and then attack somewhere in Southern Europe.

The Soviet press to-day carried a two-column headline of "British offensive in Egypt". No comment, however, was made.

THREE FACTORS CONTRIBUTED TO ROUT THE AXIS FORCES IN THE DESERT. THEY WERE, FIRSTLY, THE FACT THAT THOUGH THEY HAD BEEN EXPECTING AN ATTACK FOR SOME TIME, THE AXIS FORCES WERE NOT EXPECTING IT WHEN IT CAME ON THE NIGHT OF OCT. 23 AND WERE NOT EXPECTING IT WHERE THE BLOW FELL. THEY THOUGHT IT WOULD COME FROM THE SOUTH. INSTEAD, IT CAME FROM THE NORTH. AS A RESULT, THE EIGHTH ARMY ACHIEVED A COMPLETE SURPRISE WHICH PAID A HANDSOME DIVIDEND.

Thanks entirely to this surprise the bulk of the Axis mine-fields were crossed with comparatively small casualties. Many frontline positions were not even manned. These positions would have been manned, if they had been expecting an attack, but they were not.

Montgomery Has Complete Plan

Reuter's Military Correspondent says that Rommel—if he is still in command of the beaten Axis armies—is desperately trying to protect them from being overrun by the advancing Eighth Army, but his screen of anti-tank guns and tanks is no protection for his transport, of which our bombers continued to take a heavy toll. The fact that some positions in the South are still holding out is not surprising.

The collapse came with such suddenness that it was obviously impossible for all sectors to be informed, much less instructed as to the course of action. It is clear that General Montgomery has a complete plan and is not being distracted from his objective to wipe out odd groups of Germans and Italians and roving tanks.

KING'S MESSAGE TO GENERAL ALEXANDER

LONDON, Nov. 5.

The following is the full text of the King's message to General Alexander:

"The Eighth Army magnificently supported by the Royal Air Force and units of the Royal Navy has dealt the Axis a blow, of which the importance cannot be exaggerated. For the last fortnight, we have all been following with anxious interest the progress of the hard fought battle and I can assure all three Services, embracing as they do many representatives of the British Commonwealth and our Allies of the admiration and pride of the whole Empire in their brilliant victory. In the name of your fellow countrymen all the world over, I express to you, to Air Marshal Tedder to General Montgomery, to Air Vice-Marshal Coningham and to the Commanders and all ranks of the three services my thanks for the far-reaching success which by your untiring co-operation to have so decisively achieved." Signed George R. I."

Mrs. Roosevelt's Message

Mrs. Roosevelt has sent a telegram of congratulation to the King on the brilliant victory of British arms in Egypt.

Where Is Rommel?

LONDON, Nov. 5.

So far as is known in official circles in London, it is quite likely that Rommel was not with his forces in Africa at the beginning of the battle, but it is not known for certain, whether he had since returned. On October 15th, eight days before the attack, the German Press announced that he had gone back, but that was not necessarily true.—Reuter.

NAZI ADMISSION

BERLIN, Nov. 5.

To day's 'communique' states: "The battle in Egypt is again in progress along the whole front. The German and Italian tank army is offering the utmost resistance to massed enemy attacks. In some sectors, our troops have withdrawn."

Rome Admits Retreat

LONDON, Nov. 5.

The Rome Radio said this evening (Thursday) "The Axis forces in Egypt are steadily retreating. The battle is still raging furiously."

Willkie's Tribute To Montgomery

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.

Lauding the achievement of the Eighth Army, Mr. Wendel Willkie declared to Reuter to-day: "It is a thrilling and a far-reaching accomplishment. When I was with General Montgomery some two months ago on the day when we stopped Rommel's advance, I was convinced the present result would follow in a short while. General Montgomery told me then that he would eliminate Rommel. He is apparently well on his way."—Reuter.

Montgomery's Ambition

Reuter's Military Correspondent learns that the message by General Montgomery to the Eighth Army in which he said: the enemy is about to crack" was reported in Radio advices received in New York to-day. In the message which was said to have been issued on Tuesday, General Montgomery told his troops that the Axis forces were "in our power.' "We have a chance."

He said "of putting the whole panzer army in the bag and we will do so. Complete victory is almost in sight."

According to reports, Fighting French Parachute troops who had been busy at many points in Rommel's rear as Allied infantry and tanks were raining their heavy blows on the front have destroyed. More than thirty Axis aircraft on the ground.

Monday being Hindu New Year Day, the office of the "Bombay Chronicle" will remain closed. There will, therefore, be no issue of the paper on Tuesday, the 10th instant.

BENGAL GOVT. AND PRESS

Reimposition Of Restrictions Contemplated

(From Our Correspondent.)

CALCUTTA, Nov. 4.

It is understood Bengal Government are contemplating reimposition of Press restrictions on the same line as those of the Central Government's notification of August 8th last. Editors of Calcutta and Howrah met on Tuesday afternoon at "Statesman House", when it is understood the resolution of October 5th passed by Newspaper Editors in Bombay was considered. An approach may be made to Government for acceptance of the resolution and state objection, if any, with a view to exploring possibilities of entering into a Gentleman's Agreement between Government and editors.

It is understood the only difficulty standing in the way of an early agreement is the non-co-operation of Muslim, Communist and certain vernacular papers. It is learnt the same position has created a situation in the Punjab for the failure of an agreement between editors and Government, so restriction are reimposed.

CHIEF COMMISSIONER INVITES EDITORS

(From Our Own Correspondent)

NEW DELHI, Nov. 5.

I understand, the Chief Commissioner of Delhi has invited all Delhi, editors to meet him at a weekly conference in order to establish personal relations and better understanding.

The first meeting will be held sometime after the 10th instant. when questions arising from the Bombay resolution of the A.-I. Newspaper Editors' Conference is expected to be discussed.

NAZI THRUST FOR GROZNY

But Red Army Starts Big Drive To Push Back Germans In Caucasus

MOSCOW, Nov. 5.

The brunt of the German attack has now switched to the Caucasus where the Germans are now threatening Ordzhonikodze and Grozny, writes Reuter's special correspondent.

During the past 24 hours, however, no German progress has been recorded.

Ceaseless attacks all day yesterday south-east of Nalchik coincided with the renewal of German offensive activity on the Mozdok front. The Germans massed big tank groups on narrow sectors and carried out heavy air raids on the Soviet front lines and the Soviet rear and communications.

RED ARMY'S BIG DRIVE

The Red Army brought into action heavy as well as light and medium artillery. Increased activity by the Soviet air force has also been noted in the past few days.

The Red Army north-east of Tuapse are conducting a big drive to push the Germans off a mountain range northwards back to the Kuban steppes.

For days now the initiative has been in Russian hands.

"We are capturing hill after hill pushing the invader northward. There was a fierce battle near one dominating mountain", says a front line dispatch to the 'Pravda.' "We have liberated several villages and are continuing our advance" says a "Red Star" frontline dispatch.

FOR WINTER?

The Germans are bringing up reinforcements but it is equally significant that they have started bringing in sappers and fortification specialists.

NAZI ALPINE TROOPS CUT OFF

Groups of German Alpine troops have been cut off by the Red Army in some sectors north-east of Tuapse, reports the Soviet war correspondent. Fighting is now going on to wipe these pockets out. The Germans are putting up fierce resistance and hand-to-hand fighting is taking place.

NAZIS QUIT STRONG POINTS

The Germans yesterday had no single success at Stalingrad. On the contrary they were forced to abandon a number of strong points, "Izvestia's" correspondent there reports this morning.

A supplement to Thursday morning's 'communique says: "In the Stalingrad area all enemy attacks were repelled.

South-East of Nalchik in the Caucasus intense fighting was in progress. Soviet forces dispersed one concentration of enemy troops and tanks preparing for attack. Seventeen German aircraft were destroyed.

North-east of Tuapse Soviet troops continued mopping up of enemy groups, which had been surrounded.

IN MOZDOK AREA

In the Mozdok area the Germans attempted to attack Soviet positions but after losing a number of men retreated. Soviet troops launched a counter-attack and captured one German centre of resistance."

BALTIC SHIPPING PARALYSED

STOCKHOLM:—Baltic shipping is practically paralysed as the result of increased Russian submarine activity. The Germans are trying to run the gauntlet by using fast ships operating without escort or by hugging the coast.

CRIPPS ON SECOND FRONT

LONDON, Nov. 5.

The Lord Privy Seal, Sir Stafford Cripps, to-day declared that new offensives would be opened up in other areas besides North Africa and that the British Government is "only too anxious" to open a second front. He was speaking at a war factory which, he said, was making a special effort to pay tribute to Malta by increased production.—Reuter.

Mahabharat & Defence Of India Rules

Gorakhpur Judge Upholds Sentence On M. L. A. But Reduces Period

Eight Special Police Officers Arrested In Assam For Defying Orders

GORAKHPUR, November 5.

"In the opinion of the speaker both the sides in this war are fighting for imperialism; hence anybody who would side with them shall be ruined. It may be safely deduced from this speech of the appellant that he was condemning the present war in very strong terms. There is no doubt that he had condemned both the belligerents of the present war. By doing so he cannot escape the punishment under the Defence of India Rules", observed Mr. S. W. Alam, Additional Sessions Judge, Gorakhpur, in disposing of the appeal of Mr. Jagan Prasad Rawat, M.L.A. and Secretary of the U. P. Provincial Congress Committee, who had been sentenced to eighteen months' R. I. for delivering a speech at the sixth Gorakhpur District Political Conference on June, 1942, by Mr. Mahabir Saran Das, a first class Magistrate.

The Judge reduced the sentence to nine months' R. I. as in his opinion it erred on the side of severity.

Stressing the point that the Magistrate had rightly held the speech to be a "prejudicial act" on behalf of the appellant, the Judge observed: "I have reasons to think that by giving an analogy of the ancient Mahabharat, the appellant meant to inform his audience that even if some powers which are not considered to be antagonistic to the freedom of India just like Russia and China have taken side with the British people the war fought by the British people is nevertheless an unrighteous war and anybody who would side with British people would be frustrated and ruined. In my view there is a clear indication in the speech of the appellant that the Indians should not help the British people in the war efforts and the speech of the appellant is bound to affect defence of British India as well as the efficient prosecution of the war."—A. Denial Policy As Military Necessity

CALCUTTA, Nov. 3.

The Chief Minister Mr. A. K. Fazlul Huq paid a visit to Jhenidah, where he addressed a large meeting.

With regard to the denial policy of the Government he said that situation of the Province vis-a-vis the Japanese menace of invasion necessitated the carrying out of such a step. But compensation had been paid on a generous scale for each case of loss incurred and therefore inconveniences had been reduced to the minimum. Whatever little inconvenience had been caused was the result of indispensable military necessity and it was the duty of every patriotic man in the Province to see to the defence of his hearth and home and that nobody should grudge such a step. —A. sage of congratulations to General Alexander.

He also sent a telegram of congratulations to Air Chief-Marshal Tedder and also to Africa's General Officer of Administration in Cairo.

Churchill's Message

The possibility that the Allies' success in Egypt may become decisive is suggested by Mr. Churchill in a cable to the South African Premier Mr. Hofmeyr. Mr. Churchill says: "I send you the most warm congratulations upon the fresh distinctions gained by the South African division under General Pienaar in the new battle of Egypt. They played a glorious part in what may well become a decisive victory."

Italian Admission

To-day's Rome communique says: "Yesterday from dawn to nightfall in the Desert area between El Alamein and Fuka, bitter and bloody fighting took place between our tanks and infantry and similar units of the enemy. After exceptionally bitter resistance, towards the evening, the Italian and German armies withdrew to new lines to the West. Our losses have been severe. Axis fighters engaged the enemy airforce which was greatly superior in number. Enemy raids on Tobruk and Benghazi caused appreciable damage."

Allied Bombers Work Havoc

Hordes of Allied aircraft swooped down within a few hundred feet of the ground machine-gunning tents and transport. Describing the attacks, one London Squadron leader said: "Our objective was the retreating enemy transport on the road near Fuka. The shuttle service of light Allied bombers reached a new peak of activity over the Western Desert on Tuesday. This continual pounding by our flying artillery on a relatively concentrated target area was integral part of the striking plan. During Wednesday morning, there were evident signs that this incessant combined attack by the air forces was exacting a heavy toll. By midday, the enemy transport was seen moving back—it was the signal for an increased tempo of the light bombers already working near top pressure.

From October 24, the first full day of the land battle until Tuesday last inclusive, Allied light bombers, fighter-bombers and fighters of the desert force alone had made more than 8,000 sorties against the enemy averaging 800 sorties daily. This leaves out of account the many hundreds of sorties flown by heavy and medium bombers longrange fighter-bombers and torpedo-carrying aircraft operating over the Mediterranean against the enemy sea supply route, by reconnaissance planes and by the aircraft of Malta who played their part in the battle geographically remote but tactically of immense importance. The German and Italian air forces in the Desert never recovered from that preliminary blow. We gained air supremacy and have held it ever since.-

Eighth Army Continues To Advance

CAIRO, Nov. 5.

To-day's Middle East Joint War 'communique' states: "The Eighth Army continued to advance over the whole front yesterday. In the south, the enemy is still holding out in a few isolated positions. In the north, he has a screen of anti-tank guns and tanks which are withdrawing before our advancing forces.

Following the heavy night attacks on November 3 and 4, Allied bombers, fighter-bombers and fighters continued throughout yesterday to harass the enemy withdrawing along the coastal road. Enemy air activity was confined to attempted interceptions and one Stuka raid. Our bombers and torpedo-carrying aircraft operating in the Central Mediterranean on the night of November 3 and 4, scored hits on a heavily laden merchant vessel which was brought to a standstill and on a tanker. An enemy schooner was also attacked off the coast of southern Sicily. No enemy aircraft crossed the Malta coastline.—Reuter.

British Press Reactions

The most encouraging news of the war reached London in time to hit the front pages of most Thursday morning newspapers. "Rommel retreats in disorder" was the pregnant phrase from the communique which sprawled across banner headlines.

Some London newspapers recast their editorials.

"Tremendous news comes from the Desert battle-field this morning," wrote the "Daily Mail." "Here is the Second Front that Hitler dare no longer ignore."

U. S. Press Reactions

NEW YORK, November 5.—The Eighth Army's victory in North Africa has captured the main headline in American newspapers this morning pushing even the election results into second place. Radio commentators placed the number of American troops now in the Middle East at 7,000.

AMERICAN TROOPS POURING INTO EGYPT

CAIRO, Nov. 5.

The largest single expedition of American troops ever sent to the Middle East has arrived safely in a convoy here.

Numbering several thousand it includes engineers, large quartermaster and ordinance contingents, two complete hospital units as new ground and technical troops for the United States Middle East Air Force.—Reuter.

Don't Shed Your Blood For Nazis, Says Free Free Rome Radio

LONDON, Nov. 5.

Shortly after the special British announcement about the retreat of the Axis forces in the Middle East, an Italian freedom speaker could be heard on the Rome Wavelength telling the Italian people to face up to the realities of the war.

"You are shedding your blood for Germans," he said.

"This fight is alien to Italian tradition. The sooner you realise that the sooner will real freedom come to you."

HISTORIC AND UNIQUE

The Special Joint War Communique issued late on Wednesday night from Cairo deals with events up to Wednesday. But while the operations of the following two or three days alone would justify decisive conclusions with complete certainty, it is already possible to welcome the Special Communique as announcing a great and historic success which is an immediate prelude to a still greater and more historic victory. The details of achievements given by General Alexander make it clear that the Axis has received a staggering blow, losing among other things, important leaders, almost half its tank strength and the greater part of its air force. All these losses are vital. Beaten out of strong and elaborate defences which Rommel had spent hundred days and nights to prepare, crippled by losses, Axis forces are in full retreat through a long and perilous bottle-neck, pursued by a victorious and much stronger army which, moreover, is inspired by a terrific will to avenge past defeats.

Disastrous Retreat

What are their chances? It is even possible that from their point of view the worst may already have happened—another disastrous blow to their remaining armour which will reduce the rest of the army to a rabble fleeing unsuccessfully and in complete disorder for its life. In that case the great Axis force, which came to conquer Egypt, will have been destroyed within the bottleneck and the road will be clear to the Eighth Army to march in parade order into Cyrenaica and beyond. But even if another big disaster has not overtaken the Axis, the retreat is going to be one of the most heartbreaking operations to which the enemy has ever been subjected. The situation reminds one of the Eighth Army's rapid retreat from Cyrenaica in June last. But the circumstances are different in certain respect, one of them almost decisive. Rommel had no air superiority with which to interfere seriously with the retreat of General Auchinleck, General Alexander has not only superiority but also complete mastery in the air. As events of Tuesday and Wednesday show the Axis retreat is not going to be at all easy and even if a considerable force succeeds in extricating itself out of the bottle-neck, it will be facing another grave threat in its flight across the desert. And in any case it ought not, even with whatever reserves there may be in Tobruk and elsewhere, to be able to stop the Eighth Army's rapid advance. At the best it can delay it to some extent.

Turning Of The Tide

It is not wise to count chickens before they are well and truly hatched, particularly in North Africa. But if our view of the implications of the Special Communique is correct, General Alexander and General Montgomery have won a historic and literally unique success. The fact cannot be too highly emphasized that it is, or will be, the first considerable victory on land that has been achieved against the Axis camp since the beginning of the war in September 1939. True, Wavell scored great successes against the Italians and the Russians have beaten back, and magnificently too, a good many German attacks and armies. But here the Germans are being actually smashed and destroyed. The significance of this victory is, without exaggeration, immense. For it will mark a decisive United Nations' recovery and a turning of the tide after a long three years of reverses and crises. It is going to exercise a great influence on the global strategy of the war. With the Russians having definitely destroyed the German plan to drive through the Caucasus, General Alexander's success—we are again assuming that all goes well even if not very well—has now made the Middle East quite safe. Moreover, by clearing North Africa of the Axis, it will bring the Mediterranean back under Allied control. It will, finally, make Laval think, Mussolini shake in his very boots and Hitler start running about hither and thither knowing not what to expect next. Nor, will Japan, already hit badly, escape feeling this the greatest single blow yet struck by the other side It is, as we say, a historic and unique blow—if all goes well.

Insurance In India

The Superintendent of Insurance has just published the report on the working of insurance companies in India for the year 1940. This can be claimed to be the first comprehensive report from the Superintendent after the Indian Insurance Act came into force. The war is having a somewhat adverse effect on the progress of life insurance in this country. The peak-year in Indian life insurance business was 1938 (just a year before the war) because it was in that year that the largest amount of life insurance, Rs. 51.7 crores spread over 322,000 policies, was written. In 1939, new life insurance business fell by nearly 5 crores, the new life insurance business underwritten amounting to Rs. 46.62 crores spread over 300,000 policies. From the report under review, it would appear that new business for the year 1940 has considerably fallen by over Rs. 10 crores compared to the previous year, the total new life insurance business being Rs. 36.11 crores spread over 206,000 policies. It will be seen from the above figures that there is a fall in new business, of Rs. 15 crores during the last two years. One redeeming feature which emerges out of the report is that more life insurance in India is passing on to Indian insurance companies. Taking 1940 figures, out of Rs. 36.11 crores of new life business underwritten in India, the share of Indian insurance companies amounted to Rs. 32.32 crores.

In 1940, there were altogether 294 insurance companies doing business in India out of which 198 companies were incorporated in India. Even here, there has been a fall compared to two years ago. In that year there were 368 insurance Companies doing business in India. This figure is now reduced to 294 so that during the last two years 74 companies have either ceased to do business in India or have disappeared from the field altogether. With regard to non-Indian companies also there has been a corresponding fall. In 1938 there were 149 non-Indian companies doing business in India whereas in 1940 the report says only 94 non-Indian companies were doing business showing a fall of 55. The total life insurance business in force in India in year 1940 amounted to Rs. 286.63 crores, the share of Indian companies being Rs. 225.51 crores. Even here, there is a fall compared to 1938, when the total life insurance business in force amounted to Rs 298 crores so that during the last two years there has been a fall of nearly 13 crores even in this total—probably due to a large number of lapses and surrenders.

In the general insurance section, there was in 1940 an increase in the premium income owing doubtless to the fact that insurance values went up and the rates for marine insurance were high. The total premium income which in 1939 was Rs. 3.37 crores, rose to Rs. 3.61 crores for 1940 divided as follows:—145 lakhs from fire; 131 lakhs from marine; and 85 lakhs from miscellaneous insurance. The figures for 1939 were 152 lakhs from fire; 95 lakhs from marine; and 90 lakhs from miscellaneous insurance. The share of the Indian companies also in this business has steadily gone up and this increase is largely reflected in marine insurance business. The assets of Indian insurance companies in 1940 stood at Rs. 75.87 lakhs against Rs. 69.14 lakhs in 1939. The Superintendent of Insurance concludes his report with a warning to Indian companies to keep down their expenditure within limits and also to submit returns within the prescribed time. The report is a comprehensive one and is well worth the attention of all those who are interested in the progress of insurance in India.

Caste And Government

In his letter, published in these columns on Thursday, Mr. Sant Ram, President Jat-Pat Torak Mandal, Lahore, points out that applicants for several Commissions in the Army are still required to state their castes and sub-castes. And the official explanation for such insistence is that the information is needed only for purposes of record and identification. The information is not necessary for the purpose of identification or any other useful purpose, nor has its absence been found to be a difficulty among people who have no caste. If so, to require the information for purposes of record is superfluous and tends to perpetuate caste prejudices in the Army. The same may be said about requiring particulars about castes and subcastes in schools and colleges. Cannot spirited students wage a war against caste? It would be a service to their religion as well as to the country.

Frankly Speaking

A Thought For The Day

"India is our problem. If Japan should conquer that vast subcontinent, we will be the losers. We must believe these simple truths and speak them loudly or there will be lots of tough problems. Not all the peoples of the world are ready for freedom nor can they defend it the day after to-morrow. But they all want a date to work towards it and some guarantee that that date will be kept. They do not ask us to solve their problems. They ask only for a chance to solve their own problems with our economic and political co-operation. The peoples of the world intend to be free not only for their political satisfaction, but also for their economic advancement".—WENDELL WILLKIE.

Is That Justice?

We believe there have been many cases recently of persons proclaimed as absconders and of a part of their property attached as a penalty for not surrendering within the prescribed time. We do not know if the procedure is legal. It strikes us as inequitable in the absence of a trial. But what shall we say of the attachment of all the things in the house of a man proclaimed an absconder long before the expiry of the period within which he is to surrender? We have before us an official document being a sort of Panchanama or receipt, containing the list of the things belonging to such a person in Kanara and attached by the police. The things include cooking utensils, rice, cloth and perhaps everything else that could be seized Perhaps the idea is that the things are to be returned if the person concerned surrenders in time. But what of the distress and privation caused meanwhile to the women and children in the house? To contend that that is no concern of the authorities would be neither justice nor equity.

The "Untouchables" Of America

A touching story is in the news that while adrift in the Indian Ocean for over a month, eight American merchant seamen had their lives saved by the ingenuity and courage of a Negro comrade who braved the shark-infested seas to dive and fish with his bare hands and so keep the shipwrecked mariners' dwindling food supplies replenished. It has also been reported that many Negroes in America have offered their blood to the blood-banks for the benefit of war victims. But in several places the authorities have banned the acceptance of such offers.

War 'Prod' To Govt.

LESSON OF U. S. ELECTIONS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.

The Democrats have obtained control of the House of Representatives but for all practical purposes they have lost Legislative control of Congress as anti-New Deal Democrats in both the House and the Senate are likely to line up with Republicans on important controversial measures.

The Republicans have gained nine seats in the Senate, bringing their total to 38 compared with the Democratic total of 57.

The Democrats have now 220 seats in the House of Representatives and the Republicans 208 with three results not announced. This is a net gain of 43 for the Republicans.

The Democrats have elected 13 Governors and the Republicans 17.

The election is interpreted by the Press to-day as a "prod" to the Government to get on more vigorously with the war. All agree the result is the very opposite of a vote against the war.

DEWEY TO CONTEST PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION

The sweeping victory of the Republican Mr. Thomas Dewey, former gang busting District Attorney, means the accomplishment of one of the most remarkable feats in recent political history.

He now stands in the forefront as a candidate for the 1944 Presidential elections—while Mr. Willkie is not a candidate for renomination by the Republicans.

GOVT. WARNING TO AHMEDABAD MILLS

AHMEDABAD, Nov. 5.

Mr. R. S. Nimbker, Labour Adviser to the Government of India, who arrived here yesterday met a representative of the Textile Labour Association this morning in connection with the continued closure of textile mills and discussed with him the present situation. It is understood the representative told Mr. Nimbker that the Textile Labour Association has not asked the workers officially to go on strike nor was the Association financing the workers. The Association's attitude towards the present mills' deadlock was neutral and the workers had taken the present action of not attending the mills of their own accord.

In the afternoon Mr. Nimbker met the committee of the Millowners' Association. Mr. Nimbker is understood to have placed his views on the situation and reported to have said that if the mills were not opened the Government of India were likely to take a serious view of the matter.

The millowners are reported to have replied that the workers did not attend the mills and the millowners on their part were ready to work the mills if the workers turned up in sufficient numbers. —United Press.

INDIAN UNION FIRST

Poser To Pakistan Advocates

WHY THINK OF DIVORCE BEFORE MARRIAGE? DR. MUKHERJEE ON LEGACY OF COMMUNAL AWARD

LUCKNOW, November 5.

"The Pakistan issue was not being discussed in the light of all its realities and results. It had been proposed as a permanent settlement of the communal problem but it went much further and created other more difficult problems, as envisaged by Gandhiji", said Dr. Radha Kumud Mookerji, M.L.C. (Bengal), at a Press Conference to-day, explaining his scheme to solve the communal problem.

It was not recognised, he added, that Pakistan had already been practically conceded in the present constitution based on the Communal Award, which had been for that reason condemned in all nationalist circles as an utter negation of Democracy.

WHAT GANDHIJI SAID AT R. T. C.

The Communal Award thus set up mockeries of democracies, democracies only in form. That was why Mahatma Gandhi in opposing the Communal Award at the Round Table Conference stated that "as a result of its process of vivisection, the country will emerge as a carcass of democracy".

The advocates of Pakistan, continued Dr. Mookerjee, "blind themselves to the fact that Pakistan was already operative in all the four Muslim majority provinces. They were out to get rid of the Indian union on the ground that such a union with a Hindu majority would override the sovereignty of Pakistan province. But the solution of this difficulty was quite feasible within the Union and without destroying the integrity of the parent state.

There were two ways to this solution, he went on, the first was so to frame the schedules of Federal and Provincial subjects as to make the most of provincial autonomy and render each Pakistan a sovereign state for all practical purposes. The second was to declare for each community its cultural autonomy as per the plan he had already placed before the public.

NO DIVORCE BEFORE MARRIAGE

The case for the Union of India was also very strong on another ground. It had been a living reality before our eyes for over a century and was being administered as such by the present Government of India maintaining its paramount sovereignty equally over all the provinces and states of India. We should not think of divorce before marriage."

ON LINGUISTIC BASIS

There was still a third way by which communities may reconcile themselves to a common federation without parting from one another and partitioning the country into separate states of their own. It was to reconstitute the provinces as linguistic units, provided they were financially self-supporting.

ON RAJAJI'S PLAN

Concluding, Dr. Mookerji referred to Mr. C. Rajagopalachari's proposal for a settlement by conceding Pakistan upholding the right of self-determination for the areas wherein the Muslims are a predominant majority."

His scheme was vague in vitals. Dr. Mookerjee continued "Was it the scheme for Sir Stafford Cripps or of Mr. Jinnah? The former proposed (1) the possibility of Pakistan and (2) that on a general plebiscite, and was rejected by the Congress. Mr. Jinnah wanted (1) an immediate guarantee of Pakistan and (2) that on a Muslim Plebiscite. Mr. C. R. was apt to fall between two stools and would not carry with him either the Congress or the League and not certainly the Hindu Mahasabha. His idea of granting Pakistan to areas where the Muslims were in a predominant majority would be helpful in saving Bengal from it."—A. P.

OFFICES FOR LEGISLATORS

Bill To Be Introduced In Budget Session

NEW DELHI, Nov. 5.

It is expected that a bill will be introduced in the Budget Session of the Central Legislature to declare, in terms of Section Three of the India and Burma (Temporary and Miscellaneous Provisions) Act recently passed in Parliament, certain specified offices in the service of the Crown in India to be offices, the holding of which does not disqualify the holder thereof for election as, or continuance as, a member of either chamber of the Indian Legislature.

The power to make such a declaration, it is pointed out in an explanatory memorandum circulated to Parliament with the amending bill, has already been conferred by the 1935 act on both the federal and the provincial legislatures, but pending the inauguration of federation, the Ninth Schedule of the Act continues the application to the Central Legislature of section 63D (1) of the 1919 Act which disqualifies a non-official member from retaining his seat if he accepts office in the service of the Crown in India. "The Government of India", proceeds the memorandum, "have found that the absence of power to remove this disqualification has hampered their war effort, as several members of the Central Legislature have been deterred from accepting war-time appointments, including commissions in the Army, for fear of losing their seats. Retrospective effect is required to cover the cases of some members who already have accepted war-time appointments (such as assistant recruiting officers) or hold commissions in the Indian Army Reserve and are called up for duty from time to time."—A. Suhrawardy On League's Position

(From Our Correspondent.)

LONDON, Nov. 5.

A large gathering of Indians, Egyptians, Turks, Englishmen and other Europeans was present, yesterday afternoon at Burlington House when Prof. Hassan Suhrawardy read a paper giving the Muslim viewpoint in the Indian crisis under the chairmanship of the Conservative M.P. Mr. Godfrey Nicholson.

The meeting was held under the joint auspices of the East India Association and the Royal Central Asian Association.

Prof. Suhrawardy said, Congress dominated by a highly educated Hindu oligarchy many of whom were militant and others were Fascist totalitarians was wanting grapes of the governing power in their own hands. The Muslim League on the other hand a most democratic organisation had united Shias, Sunnis and other sects and done away with the need for the support of Mullah and Mufti.

As a political institution, the League was no less nationalist than the Congress but had a sense of values and an international outlook as the result of its democratic foundations and practice of the social system of Islam.

Mr. Jinnah may well feel satisfied with the performance of Prof. Suhrawardy who staunchly advocated Pakistan for India which he said, did not contemplate amalgamation with any foreign kingdom nor with Indian states but proposed a union of autonomous provinces only in British India. Pakistan was a planned symbol and its root lay in the social injustice and selfish exclusiveness of that great evil, caste system of Hindus.

Most of the speakers who followed the lecturer welcomed Pakistan movement, but Sir Ernest Hotson was not enthusiastic about Mr. Jinnah's Pakistan because he feared it would divide India.

St. John Philby sounded a warning against too much of criticism of Congress which alone was responsible for promoting the principle of self-Government for India which the other parties in India were now advocating.

St. John Philby felt that the League was not responsible for the present deadlock in India which must be shared jointly by the British Government and the Congress. After all, it needs two to make a quarrel.

Mr. Nicholson welcomed Pakistan movement as Muslim resurgence which was a sign of life, sign of vivid life which must be a source of great and sincere pleasure to all Britishers.

Allies Advance On Wairopi

Will Japs Make Another Attempt For Kokoda?

SYDNEY, Nov. 5.

Beating back stout Japanese resistance west of Oivi, Allied troops are now continuing their advance on Wairopi, a key point on the road to Buna, Reuter's special correspondent has cabled from the advanced operational base to-day.

WAIROPI: Twenty miles from Kokoda, lies on high sloping ground offering better defensive positions.

RAIN HINDERS OPERATIONS.

Reuter's special correspondent in a cable from an advanced operational base to-day states: "Torrential rain is falling and therefore even lightly equipped troops must find progress difficult along the muddy track down the northern slopes of the Owen Stanley mountains. The question of bringing up supplies becomes more difficult as the advance continues although with Kokoda aerodrome in our hands means may be found of transporting some by air.

WILL JAPS MAKE ANOTHER EFFORT?

The decision of the Japanese to forfeit Kokoda and its aerodrome without firing a shot is puzzling as they fought bitterly for its possession at the outset of the campaign. Despite the smashing up of their first bid to reinforce their hard pressed troops in New Guinea the Japanese may be expected to make another attempt.

Allied headquarters in the South-west Pacific:

The Communique issued on Thursday says: "Buna: Allied fighters strafed the beach and landing areas at Sananda point.

KOKODA AREA: Our ground troops swept aside strong enemy resistance three miles west of Oivi and are continuing their advance. In conjunction with the advance of our ground forces our attack planes bombed and strafed enemy positions in the Oivi area.

TIMOR: Allied medium bombers attacked Dilli and the enemy occupied villages of Moabisse and Ailey causing heavy damage.

LAE: Under cover of darkness an Allied heavy unit bombed the aerodrome and wharf areas.

SALAMAUA: A strong force of medium bombers executed a bombing and strafing sweep over the town and port area, starting many fires. One large explosion in a probable munitions dump threw the debris 700 feet in the air. Heavy anti-aircraft fire was encountered but all our planes returned."—Reuter.

RELIEF FOR BENGAL CYCLONE VICTIMS

Newspaper Editors Set Up Sub-Committee

CALCUTTA, Nov. 4.

A conference of all the newspaper editors of Calcutta and Howrah was held at the "Statesman House" this afternoon when some important topics were discussed.

Among others a resolution expressed its heartfelt sympathy with the sufferers in the recent cyclone and appointing a sub-committee for collecting funds for the relief of sufferers was passed.

HINDU-MUSLIM JOINT APPEAL

Professor Humayun Kabir M.L.C. and Mr. B. K. Bose, solicitor, Joint Secretaries of the Hindu-Muslim Unity Association have issued the following appeal:—

The havoc created by the recent cyclone in Midnapore and 24 Parganas, as revealed by the Government Communique can only be described as catastrophic. The loss of life and cattle is almost unbelievable and it is necessary that every agency of relief should be utilised in rendering what help may be possible to the survivors.

On behalf of the Hindu-Muslim Unity Association we appeal to all the people of Bengal irrespective of caste and creed to come to the help of the stricken people and co-operate with all organisations that are carrying out relief work. —A. P.

Relief For Bengal Cyclone Victims

CALCUTTA, Nov. 4.

The Marwari Relief Society at an emergent meeting held this evening sanctioned Rs. 50,000 for starting immediate relief work in the areas affected by the cyclone which swept over in the districts of Midnapur and the Twenty-four Parganas on October 16 last.

The Society has issued an appeal to the public to send subscriptions to the General Secretary of the Marwari Relief Society.

Similar appeal has also been issued by Dr. Shyama Prasad Mukherji to millionaires and individuals inviting subscriptions which will be sent either in cash or in kind to Mr. S. N. Banerji, treasurer of the Bengal Provincial Hindu Mahasabha, Ramkrishna Mission, Marwari Relief Society or to any recognised relief organisation.—United Press.

TÊTE-À-TÊTE

WITHOUT COMMENT ,

Sub-Inspector Vasavda corroborating the previous statement said that when he saw the crowd getting violent and throwing stones etc. he fired a round.

A member of the jury asked.

Q.: Was the round fired in the air or at the crowd?

A.: It was fired straight at the crowd. It was a straight shot.

Q.: The general practice is to fire at the feet to disable a man. May I know whether the idea of firing was to scare and disperse the crowd or to kill persons.

A.: To fire in the air is prohibited. To fire at the feet is not the usual procedure. The general order was to fire straight.

The Coroner's jury recorded a verdict of accidental death.

FROM SECRET RADIO STATIONS

(By DR. LISTENER.)

FROM PARIS: (Hitler and Napoleon). We Frenchmen feel heavily insulted if we learn that some indolent and stupid authors dare in various newspapers or in radio speeches to compare our great Napoleon with such an infamous, illiterate outcast as Hitler. Such a comparison itself is a grim sacrilege. Napoleon was also, to be true, an adventurer but in the finest sense, with his fantastic plans, brave, foolhardy ideas, a real genius, whereas this Hitler is only an adventurer in the worst sense and manner, on a pattern of a brigand of lowest stage. To compare Napoleon with Hitler is to compare a lion with louse the sun with a closet-light... While France will be proud of Napoleon at all times, Germany will be for ever ashamed to have produced a Hitler, a dark, lunatic monster Napoleon was a unique genius of a brilliant ingenuity, a stupendous strategist, a quick as lightning politician, an honest, great gentleman who never insulted or murdered civilians, women or children, but this dirty outcast Hitler with bloody hands is an ordinary gangster in uniform, a criminal who has all he possesses stolen or robbed his Iron Cross from the army, his program from the Communists and Socialists, his Swastika from the Hindus, his party from the lowest German underworld, his organisation for money from the heavy industry, his book "Mein Kampf" from eleven authors who later in June 1934 were shot in order to keep it secret, his power from the decrepit Hindenburg with the help of another corrupted gangster von Papen, his weapons with stolen, robbed money from Jews, industrial magnates and some foolish countries, and so on without end. Napoleon was a fanatic, audacious soldier and commander who marched fearlessly at the head of his brave soldiers to the front, Hitler was always and is still now a timid coward who fears his own shadow, a brazen faced fellow who was never in the frontline, and returns from his every journey, undertaken in high secret and protected by hundreds of Gestapo rats, white filled trousers. Napoleon commanded brave soldiers Hitler is a leader of bloodthirsty gangsters in uniform whose duty is to produce a bloodshed every, where among the civilian people, old aged men, women and children. Napoleon never broke a treaty, Hitler never held one. Napoleon was a clever man of inborn intelligence, wit and culture Hitler is a rude buffoonish lunatic with a sense only for robbery and murder, a low-bred churl, an illiterate nought in the worst sense. While Napoleon at all times will by admired as one of the greatest geniuses, Hitler will be despised and disdained for ever as the greatest gangster and brigand. Thus how can one venture to compare a Hitler with a Napoleon?

Hands Off Sugar Trade

Lalchand Exposes Control Policy

BOMBAY, Nov. 5.

"What has been experienced during the last six months will convince any fair-minded person that Sugar Control is out of place. It would do well to leave this trade to find its own level, particularly when enough is being produced in the country," says Mr. Lalchand Hirachand, M.L.A. (Bombay), President of the Sugar Technologists' Association and Vice-President of the Indian Sugar Mills' Association in the course of a statement to the press.

Mr. Lalchand maintains that the Sugar Control policy of the Government has failed and says, "those who have seen the long queues of men, women and children standing under sun and rain will say that the controller's claim of equitable distribution was no more than an idle talk of a theorist. Those with long purses manage to get their sugar in their required quantities in the common "black-markets" which are the direct and conspicuous feature of the control."

Mr. Lalchand continuing said for weeks together there was no sugar in the whole province of Bombay and the much advertised scheme never succeeded. In the month of October in Cawnpore which is the capital of the sugar trade, sugar was not available."—A. P.

GOLD AND SILVER

Reach New High Prices

Bombay, Nov. 5.

As anticipated both gold and silver prices are steadily advancing and to-day reached new high levels. Silver was quoted at Rs. 110/8 and gold was firm at Rs. 66/8. It will be observed that substantial increase in note circulation is encouraging enquiry for both gold and silver and supplies being limited, the market has assumed only one upward trend. It is true that present prices are high enough but unless supplies increase it will be difficult to check the rise.

NEW YORK COTTON MARKET

Bombay, Nov. 5.

On Wednesday, the New York cotton market was steady with moderate trade buying.

The Department of Agriculture announced Mid-October parity price cotton 19.10 compared with September 18.97.

It is generally believed that cotton growers are holding large quantities of the present crop. The rise in cotton prices has improved the economic situation and most of the farmers are unwilling to give their arrivals into Government loans.

Mills are constant buyers and trade support appears on all recessions. The long-range outlook is in favour of higher prices but traders are awaiting Government action on price ceilings.

The New York cotton market opened steady at a rise of 2 points with March quoted at 18.55. There was steady buying and later prices improved to 18.61. The market closed at a rise of 7 points. Spot cotton prices advanced 8 points at 20.22c per lb.

The New Orleans cotton futures market was also steady under improved buying and closed at a rise of 8 points. Spot cotton was higher 8 points at 19.21c per lb.

BOMBAY STOCK EXCHANGE

Bombay, Nov. 5.

It appears that there will be no "Moorat transactions" in shares and stocks on the Bombay Stock Exchange on the eve of the Hindu New Year on Sunday. Business done on Tuesday will be considered as 'Moorat' business. The market was officially open today and no business was done in the trading Hall. However most of the business is done in the street and on telephones. Now there being no forward trading, there is only cash business and naturally business is restricted but transactions cover a very wide field. The market was steady to-day and leading shares were quoted as under :—

Tata Steel Defds 1517; Tata Steel Ord 318; Bombay Dyeing 1515; Century Mills 618; Fohinoor Mills 607.

Keep your skin YOUNG...

The secret of Pears beauty treatment is very simple. It is a natural treatment that cleanses, softens, then tones up your skin. Pears' rich lather penetrates deep into the pores, lifts away all impurities. The glycerine in it soothes the skin and prevents unsightly cracking. And its tonic action closes the pores against dirt, giving the skin new beauty and loveliness. And then Pears leaves a lasting perfume, so soothing, so refreshing.

"The Man Who Came To Dinner" At Strand

Warner's "The Man Who Came to Dinner" starring Monty Woolley, is one of the most uproarious comedies of the decade, bursting with brilliant dialogue and embellished by fine acting by an all-star cast is released this week at Strand.

"The Man Who Came to Dinner" is a grand attraction at Strand, which nobody should miss.

On Sunday at 10-30 a.m. "Balalaika" featuring Nelson Eddy and Ilona Massey, will be shown.

Programme At Paradise

"The Howards of Virginia" featuring Cary Grant and Martha Scott, is released from Friday 6th to Monday 9th at Paradise (Mahim).

From Tuesday 7th to Thursday 9th "King Kong" will be the attraction.

Sunday 8th Morning 10-30 a.m. Gary Cooper in "Beau Geste" will be shown.

"Ball Of Fire" At Aurora

The complications that arise when a night club singer takes refuge from the police by moving in with eight Professors working on a new encyclopaedia, underlie the hilarious fun of Samuel Goldwyn's comedy "Ball of Fire" starring Gary Cooper and Barbara Stanwyck at Aurora this week.

On Sunday 8th and Monday 9th there will be two Morning Shows at Aurora of that much discussed film sensation "Damaged Lives" which has been recommended by the Medical Profession and Clergy and endorsed by the British Social Hygiene Council.

SUNDAY SHOW AT CAPITOL

"Vivacious Lady" starring Ginger Rogers and James Stewart will be shown at Capitol on Sunday at 10-30 a.m.

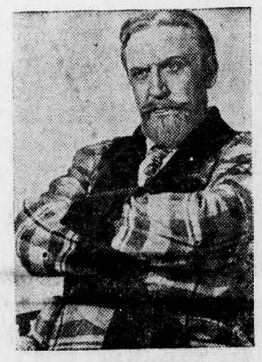
"PARDON MY SARONG" AT REGAL

Those who may have thought Abbott and Costello could not keep up the comedy pace they set in "Buck Privates", "In the Navy", "Keep 'Em Flying" and their other successive hits, have another thing coming. They have done it again, on a bigger scale in "Pardon My Sarong" which is to be shown at Regal from to-day (Friday).

The same picture will be shown on Sunday at 10-30 A.M. at evening prices.



Monte Wooley in 'The Man Who Came To Dinner' at Strand

"Courtship Of Andy Hardy" At Metro

The "Courtship of Andy Hardy" is the Diwali week attraction at Metro during the current week. The whole Hardy family is as fit as ever for producing tons of clean fun. The welcome addition this time is Douna Reed.

On Sunday 10 A.M. All Comedy Shorts programme consisting of Laurel and Hardy, Our Gang, Fitzpatrick Traveltalk, Pete Smith Specialities, etc., etc.

"How Green Was My Valley" At Palace

"How Green Was My Valley", 20th Century-Fox's brilliant picturization of Richard Llewellyn's popular novel, is at Palace this week.

This is the story of a brave family never conquered—not by armed men or hardship, hunger or hate—nor by the turbulent years that stole the greenness from their valley.

The picture for Sunday morning at Palace is "King Kong" and for Monday morning is "Last Days of Pompeli."

"The Tuttles Of Tahiti" At New Empire

Presenting a colourful panorama of genuine South Seas life along with a delightful story and a group of brilliant screen characterizations, 'The Tuttles of Tahiti" comes to New Empire this week.

How the indomitable Tuttles make an unexpected fortune, and lose it again, gives rise to many hilarious situations that lead up to the dramatic climax when old Jones, at last square with the world, makes a vain effort to stay in the path of financial virtue.

"Call Out The Marines" At Capitol

Victor McLaglen and Edmund Lowe, are back together again.

As full of rivalry, stratagems and boisterousness as ever, the famous pair are brought right up to date as the story opens with their meeting, in civilian garb, after having lost track of one another for several years as service men.

Celebrating the reunion, the boys start right in battling over the smiles of an entertainer in a waterfront cafe patronized by Service men. When they see that they are not getting very far because of the competition of the lads in uniform, they promptly enlist for the duration of the emergency, and in their glittering sergeants' dress blues resume their lady-killing activities and then begins the fun.

Jinnah Accepts Sind League's Action

LAHORE, November 5.

The view that Mr. Jinnah was satisfied with the explanations submitted to him regarding the circumstances in which the Muslim League had accepted office in Sind was expressed by Khan Bahadur M. A. Khuro and Mr. M. H. Gazdar, Ministers of Sind, addressing a Press Conference in Lahore this afternoon at the residence of Prof. Inayatullah, a local Muslim League leader.

They said that they were now proceeding to Delhi to see Mr. Jinnah on the eve of the meeting of the Council of the All-India Muslim League and would clear up misgivings if any still existed in his mind.

The Sind Ministers left for Delhi this evening.—A. P.

GIVE C. R. A CHANCE

LONDON, Nov. 5.

A letter signed by over 40 prominent people has been sent to the Secretary of State for India, Mr. Amery, urging the Government to facilitate the visit of Mr. Rajagopalachari to England.

The letter says, "We feel sure that you will agree that any suggestion opening a new line of approach to the problem of the Indian deadlock should be carefully considered."

It says that such a suggestion is contained in Mr. Rajagopalachari's recent statement that if he could get a plane and a passport neither disinclination nor work would stand in the way of his coming to England.

It continues, "We, therefore, wish to express our hope that his Majesty's Government will welcome such a visit and will put such facilities at the disposal of Mr. Rajagopalachari."

The signatories include Lords Mapley and Strabolgi, eleven other Members of Parliament, three representatives of Trade Unions, lecturers such as G. D. H. Cole and Harold Laski, Julian Huxley, Brailsford, Professor Joad, Victor Gollancz and other writers, also leading women including Dame Elizabeth Cadbury and Lady Layton.—Reuter.
